OK, so we've finally got to cleaning the new lock gates at the top of Ebridge lock. See the before and after photos below.

We've had The Weedeater in the mill pond just raking material which has been floating on the surface. Enquiries are being made about early cutting arrangements, as the need looks likely this year for both model boaters and swimmers.

The team have had another day on the culvert entrance, which is looking smart now. Huge thanks to them for their time, effort and skill! I understand they're planning another day on the job tomorrow.

Oh! and The Weedeater moved a tree which was blocking the canal further up. It's less than satisfactory to just snap off a branch in pushing it to one side, but the proper job is probably best down by the land-owner.

Thus ends Tuesday 20th April.
