Celebrate Norfolk Day with a cruise on a county treasure

To celebrate Norfolk Day, on Friday July 27, the North Walsham and Dilham Canal Trust is offering cruises along the county's only sailing canal with locks.

The trips, from Ebridge Millpond (NR28 9NG) to Bacton Wood Lock, Spa Common, will include a commentary about the history and restoration of this unique Norfolk gem.

New gates installed.

Disembarking, passengers will be able to take a short stroll to the beautifully-restored Bacton Wood lock where there will be the rare opportunity to walk into the top end and understand how a lock is operated, and to be dwarfed by the size of the gates and chamber.

On the return journey passengers can relax in the peace of the electrically-powered Ella II, and watch out for wildlife which could include marsh harriers, little egret, water voles and damselflies.

The Ella II was launched by the Trust in June, and its name commemorates the last wherry "Ella" to use the Canal in 1936. She can take up to 10 passengers, and trips will run at
